MATERIAL RELATING TO HOUSING & URBAN PLANNING: FROM THE BOOKSHOP SHELVES

1. ABERCROMBIE. Patrick, Country Planning and Landscape Design

Liverpool University Press of Liverpool Hodder & Stoughton 1934 40pp. Wrappers. Slightly worn at edges else good copy. Text of the Stevenson Lecture for 1933 Bedford College, University of London. This is a call for careful control of the countryside to ensure its economic function and conservation. [15935] £24

2. ABERCROMBIE. Patrick, and JOHNSON. T.H. , Sheffield and District Regional Planning Scheme Sheffield and District Regional Planning Scheme: Prepared for The Sheffield and District Joint Regional Planning Committee; Together with a Mining Report by Messrs. Childe & Rowland and A. Smith Denton & Co.

Liverpool, University Press; London, Hodder & Stoughton. 1931 xvi, 197 pp. + 29 plates containing photographs and maps. Contains 3 fold-out maps in rear pocket. Sl. foxing in places, else vg. 4to. Blind stamped boards with gilt lettering and white rose insignia on front board. In dust wrapper torn at head, base and along spine. With previous owner's signature on frontis. and stamp of Hoyland Nether Urban District Council on fep. Includes off-print of essay by Gerald Dix, 'Patrick Abercrombie: Pioneer of Planning', published in Architectural Review, v.160, no. 990, pp.130-132. Abercrombie acknowledged his early work in Sheffield to be pivotal in developing his later approaches to town planning. Complemented by the mining report, this provides a fascinating early example of his work at a regional level; the district extends from Sheffield in the south to Castleford in the north. One fold-out map details subsidence plans, one suggests zoned areas within district and one classifies district by 'life' areas and mining pits. Highly recommended. [7914] £65

3. ABERCROMBIE. Prof. Patrick, a Civic Survey and Plan for the City and Royal Burgh of Edinburgh

Edinburgh, Oliver and Boyd, 1949. 115 pp.54 plates. and many tables and diagrams. Also 25 folding colour maps (3 in pocket at end). Decorative cloth. Vg with slightly worn dw but which has protected the cloth. Prepared by Patrick Abercrombie and Derek Plumstead for the Town Council, the book contains detailed data for traffic, health, education, recreation, population density and so on, beautifully depicted in a series of maps, charts and diagrams. Planning documents produced today have nowhere near this degree of flair and quality even if some of the proposals now seem quite unpalatable such as major motorways through the heart of the city. [13643] £60

4. ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW: DAVEY .Peter (Editor), Themed Issue: Third World Housing
The Architectural Review August 1985 Pagination runs from p11- 68 + period ads. Superb colour photographs throughout. 4to. Wraps. Very good copy. London Guild Publishing 1987 224pp illus. with b/w plates and line ills. More than 300 photographs with 100 in colour. Square 4to. Vg in decorated dust wrapper. Useful and very well illustrated overview on all the elements of the suburban houses and its details including fittings and fixtures. List of stockists for elements at the back. Winston Barnett Architect bookplate inside cover. Sydney University of Technology stamp on title page. [ 16969 ] £10

9. BAUER. Catherine, Modern Housing
Boston and New York Houghton Mifflin and Co 1934 First edition. 331pp + 48pp plates in black and white at the back. 8vo. Open weave cloth with green lettering. Previous owner's signature on front end paper. Very good indeed. Seminal work on contemporary interwar housing and its design with wide ranging examples from Welwyn Garden City, Berlin, Hamburg and other locations in Europe. Includes assessments of the Bauhaus school's work at Dessau etc., the Werkbund exhibition etc. Hard to find in this condition. Bauer was an advocate of planning and social housing and this book was highly influential. Although from the USA she spent time in Europe and knew Man Ray and others in Paris. [17136] £140

10. BEAZLEY. Elizabeth, Designed to Live In

London: Geo Allen and Unwin 1962 198pp with b/w line ills + 32pp b/w plates. Very good in sl. worn dust wrapper protected with glassine wrapper. Review of domestic houses, tracing the main influences behind contemporary design. Explores diverse issues ranging from Bye-law houses to the design philosophies of Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright. Aimed at the non-specialist, the book includes a section on choosing an architect and discusses problems of making your own grand design. With dedication written in hand from Elisabeth Beazley to Margie. Dated 29th September 1962. [ 15139] £25

11. BEAZLEY. Elizabeth, Design and Detail of the Space between Buildings

London Architectural Press 1962 (1960) 230 pp. B/w photographs and diagrams throughout. Red cloth boards, spine with gilt lettering. Decorated dust wrapper designed by Herbert Spencer FSIA, worn at edges. Slightly sunned with foxing on paste-downs, front endpaper, and inside jacket flaps, else vg indeed. Sets out to collate all available information, and to assess the character, availability and wearing qualities of materials, the relative merits of constructional methods, and the principles governing sympathetic design. Aims to help planners avoid the incongruities of detail which spoil many otherwise distinguished schemes. Provides a practical, balanced guide to the handling of those spaces often treated as either a 'no-man's land where economy is the keystone', or as a space to be improved 'in the name of amenity'. [ 16724] £30

12. (BIRMINGHAM -ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW) Birmingham and the West Midlands: Special Issue January 1968 no 863

London Architectural Review 1968 Annual review issue devoted to the projects of the West Midlands. Lovely copy with introduction by Leslie Ginsburg. 4to. Organised by building types including Industrial, Commercial and Housing projects etc. Criticisms by Tim Rock. Useful review. [ 17015] £12

13. (BIRMINGHAM) THE CALTHORPE ESTATE COMPANY An Introduction to the Calthorpe Edgbaston Estate Redevelopment Proposals Birmingham published by the firm 1958

44pp illustrated with maps, plans and illustrations and including period adverts. Centre fold shows development proposals on plan. 4to. Wrappers. Concise view of the considerations which led up to the plan and to outline the proposals. Fascinating post war reconstruction proposals for the Edgbaston area to fit with the Birmingham Redevelopment Plan post the 1947 Planning Act. The area includes parts of Harborne and Edgbaston and is an area of mixed development comprising private house, shops, offices and open spaces. The Calthorpe Estate has been owned by the Anstruther-Gough-Calthorpe family for almost 300 years. Much of Birmingham University and the hospitals close by were built on land gifted from the family. An example of a privately produced planning document by an influential private land holding and investment company. [17077] £26

14. (BRENTHAM) REID. Aileen, (Introduction by Prof. Sir Peter Hall) Brentham: a history of the pioneer garden suburb 1901-2001

Includes essays on Camillo Sitte's background and interests, information on his books and translations of City Planning according to artistic principles and includes translation of the 1889 Austrian edition of his City Planning according to Artistic Principles. Fine in dw. [Ref: 507] £50

19. CHADWICK. George F., The Park and the Town: Public Landscape in the 19th and 20th Centuries

London, Architectural Press 1966 388pp with 100s of b/w illustrations throughout. Cloth. Very good with good dust wrapper. A survey of the development of urban landscape design in the Victorian and Edwardian eras. With chapters on general topics, such as pleasure gardens, botanical gardens, individual designers, such as Loudon and Paxton, and international context, such as Paris and America. A key work, addressing mid- 20th Century prejudices against the Victorian Aesthetic. Hard to find. [16725] £75

20. CHERRY G.E., Town Planning in its Social Context

London, Leonard Hill Books 1970 [7] I-X, 182, [2] pp + 10 b/w photographic plates. Original cloth boards and accompanying paper dust jacket. Vg, with some minimal damage to the paper dust jacket at the head and base of the spine. Scattering foxing inside and on the edges of the leaves. This book, published in 1970, explores the development of social planning within the wider parent field of town planning. It demonstrates the problematic approach of housing planning based on spatial considerations alone, drawing instead on progressive ideas of social spaces, championing the further development of social policies within the practice. [17063] £12

21. [CORK] ROBERTSON. Manning, Cork Town Planning Report

Dublin Printed by order of the Cork Corporation by the Monument Press, 1941 35pp With 6 sketch maps in the text. Small 4to. Ex library [Withdrawn from Edinburgh College of Art] Marks on the end papers and class mark on the upper board. The report was originally accompanied by four full size maps of the area but these are not with this copy of the plan and may have been issued separately. Nonetheless a useful text on approaches to planning, written mid the Second World War. Detailed on the survey work and with short recommendations. [17145] £22

22. CULPIN. Ewart, T., Garden City Movement up-to-date

London Garden Cities and Town Planning Association 1914 vi +82pp + [4] pp period ads. Illustrated with maps, plans and photographs and loosely inserted table. Small quarto. Original wrappers bound into more recent black

Rexene hard covers with gilt lettering. Very good indeed. Important analysis of early schemes which defines what the Association considered at the time to be garden cities and suburbs as distinct from suburban housing schemes. It nonetheless shows just how much the conception of the garden city had been broadened from Howard's original texts. Indeed the Association's own name had been broadened to add the newly emergent practice and theory of town planning to the original focus. Alongside the garden city, recognition is now given to the burgeoning numbers of garden suburbs and garden villages. Many examples of these are identified and briefly described. [15877] £180

23. CRESWELL. H.B., ( 2 volumes) The Honeywood File: An Adventure in Building

London, Faber & Faber (1929) 1943 reprint 226pp. Good in slightly frayed dust wrapper. Imaginary account of the commissioning and building of a 20th-century country house, told through correspondence between architect and client. With the companion volume: CRESWELL. H. B., The Honeywood Settlement: a continuation of the Honeywood File, London Faber & Faber 1944 214pp, Very good with very slightly worn dust wrapper which has a closed tear on upper part of dust wrapper. Correspondence sent and received at an imaginary firm in order to present an archive of questions and answers facing the architects office. Classic of architectural practice. [Ref: 16387] £36

24. CULLINGWORTH. J.B., Housing in Transition: A Case Study in the City of Lancaster, 1958-1962 London Heinemann 1963

x, 261 pp. + 8 pp. b&w photographic plates. Meticulous detail in this fascinating study of housing patterns in Lancaster just prior to the opening of its university. Taking Lancaster as a typical English town, specific chapters focus on the development of owner-occupation, municipal housing and the privately rented sector. [ 8213 ] £22.00

25. DARLEY. Gillian, Villages of Vision (1975) The Study of Strange Utopias

Nottingham, Five Leaves Publications 2007 341pp illus. with b/w plates. Pioneering book with a complete gazetteer, county by county, of villages designed as model communities. Wraps sl. worn else good copy. Original edition was produced by the Architectural Press in 1975. [ 16963 ] £10

26. (DARTINGTON) PAGE. Andrew, (origination, conceptual synthesis and design criteria. Brochure prepared by DAUNCEY. Guy,) The Dartington Model of A Community for the Future

Dartington Hall Trust 1980 20pp, b/w printed wrappers, text ills and centre fold showing proposed community of the future. Type scripted. Some minor underlining in text else good copy. The booklet concerns the construct of a model in which life can be lived with values generally associated with village life - a life of cooperation with neighbours, of small-scale business and industry. But not one designed for isolation from the rest of the world of advances in modern technology. The model was a visual aid to consider future possibilities and was constructed by Tetra Design Services. [17138] £24

27. (DIESTE) ANDERSON. Stafford, (editor) Eladio Dieste: Innovation in Structural Art

92. SHAW Nellie, Whiteway: A Colony on the Cotswolds, with a facsimile letter from H G Wells.

C.W. Daniel Company 1935 238pp, 8vo. Green cloth with very good dust wrapper. Whiteway Colony was a residential community in the Cotswolds in the parish of Miserden near Stroud built around Utopian principles related to the "back to the land" ideal. It was set up in 1898 by a Quaker journalist and Tolstoyan, Samuel Veale Bracher, along with other Tolstoyans purchased 41 acres (162,000 m<sup>2</sup>) along with seeds, tools, materials and provisions. The colonists then burnt the property deeds on the end of a pitchfork in a symbolic rejection of the notion of property. Aylmer Maude led the founding board of trustees for the colony. Whiteway Colony is still in existence today and houses, among others, descendants of its original settlers. Though it no longer has an explicitly anarchist character, today's residents are aware, and proud, of its origins. C R Ashbee visited Whiteway shortly before he created his settlement of Cockney Craft workers at Chipping Campden and compared his scheme based around Aestheticism and the Tolstoyan ideal of simplification of life; an episode written up by Fiona McCarthy in C R Ashbee and the Simple life. This copy of the book has a variety of inserts associated with a radio play relating to Whiteway and Utopianism. [ 17135 ] £350
